Will Snyder is manager of the Saint Louis Science Center’s James S. McDonnell Planetarium in Forest Park. Prior to moving to St. Louis this year, Will graduated from Clarion University of Pennsylvania Honors College with a degree in astrophysics before going on to become director of both the Ingram Planetarium in Sunset Beach, NC and the Lynn Planetarium at the Schiele Museum of Natural History located outside of Charlotte, NC. As a professional member of the planetarium community and informal educator, he has pioneered enduring public and school programming that has aided thousands of visitors to better appreciate the wonders of the cosmos. Will looks forward to each day inspiring not only the next generation, but EVERY generation to keep looking up.
